Map challenge

Scenario:

You have got a new job working for a company as an adminstrator. Your boss hands you a vey badly drawn map of the site you work at. Your boss asks you to create a better map on the computer and add some colour coding so everyone who arrives on site knows which buildings are A, B and C.

Use a suitable program:

You could use Word, Paint, PowerPoint or an online program such as Canva.com to create your map. You may have another suitable alternative drawing program and you could use that.

Key:

Make sure you include a key on your map so that anyone reading it knows which colour building is A,B or C, which buildings are cafes and where the car parks are.
